ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Thanks to the numerous people who contributed through giving up their professional time to prepare and present material, through helping record and write up the conference proceedings, or through helping organise the conference. The contributions are too numerous to list as every participant is a contributor in a real fashion. Special thanks to the Auckland University Planning Department as host to this first conference of the New Zealand Association for Impact Assessment (Inc.).

Very are grateful to officials from Auckland, North Shore and Waitakere Cities and Auckland Regional Council who put considerable effort and time into presenting a very professional story of the Auckland Regional Growth Strategy and supporting related local case studies. Our gratitude to Dr Bruce Huckler, Professor Ian Shirley and Professor Hobson Bryant (president of the International Association for Impact Assessment) for the special efforts they made as keynote speakers and commentators for the conference, and to those others who acted as recorders or reporters for various sessions.

Our thanks to Reverend Maurice Gray, co-chair of the Indigenous People's Section of the IAIA (International Association for Impact Assessment) for coming up to Auckland specially to contribute to the panel session on the first day. Similarly, our thanks to Wiremu (Bill) Kapea, resource management advisor to Ngati Whatua hapu, for providing a local Maori perspective on impact assessment procedures and the Regional Growth Forum consultation process.

The Association would particularly like to thank Assoc. Professor Tom Fookes for his tireless work on design of the programme and gentle persuasion of the contributors into making this design a reality, and for the smooth organisation of another enjoyable NZAIA Conference.

According to ASA and now NZAIA conference tradition, "Chocolate fish" are also due to those numerous other NZAIA members who did their bit to make the conference work and to draw together this narrative of the event. Including Marilyn Stephens in particular for tireless efforts to get us organised for the conference, to Paul Lister (especially for remembering to bring his guitar and music), to Diane Buchan for many things not least of which was lending her splendid voice to the guitar and singing session on the Friday night, to James Newell (but he already has a few chocolate fish accumulated), to Bobbi Schjiff, Marjorie van Roon, Tricia Austin, Stephen Knight, Richard Morgan and others for note-taking and summarising workshop and Indaba sessions.
